

Beryllium

After extraction, beryllium ore is processed into beryllium oxides and hydroxides, master alloys, beryllium unwrought and powders. These processed materials are converted into semi-finished products consisting mainly of ceramics, alloys and metals. Then, these semi-finished products are used in finished products in various applications such as electronic equipment, road transport, moulds for industry, etc. The figure below presents the value chain of beryllium with the main uses.

โซ่คุณค่าของ Beryllium